Key Club's Safety Awareness Night

On the 19th of October, the Canaan Key Club participated in Canaan's annual open house and resource fair with a display of secure nature. Three workshops were held in hopes to increase public awareness about safety. Various members of the local Key Club took part in giving a demonstration of bike, car, and water safety. Officer Jeff Noyes of the local police department joined the Key Club in helping to demonstrate car safety. Children attending the bicycle safety workshop were instructed in the safety precautions and defenses necessary when riding bikes. Those attending the workshop were provided with safety helmets. The kids at the car safety workshop were taught the proper ways to apply the seat belt and other various car safety tips. The water and swimming safety workshop gave out life jackets to those children who were of the proper weight and size and taught them how to use the jackets properly. The night was a success for the members of Canaan's Key Club as they helped better the community by making those in it aware of how to avoid harm while participating in everyday activities.

Well, that's a wrap for this month. Thanks for reading and remember to continue to serve our community every day!!!

Sincerely,
